BERT GREEN,

Famous Cartoonist, endorses the Vacumatic for his work

The image shows a sample of Bert Green's work. On the left is a letter on a piece of paper tilted to the right. The letter is addressed to 'Parker Pen Co., U.S. and A.' and is signed 'BERT GREEN'. The letter's content is as follows:

Gentlemen:

At last I have found a fountain pen that doesn't go Volstead after a few days' workout. Nothing is more provoking than to have to traipse to the local post office every few days for ink.

You should change the name of your "Vacumatic" filling pen to "The American Camel" - one swallow and it's good for 26000 (?) words. - that is if you don't write like an archaeologist.

To my mind, the rubber sack pen (that holds six tears of ink) went out with the cotton stocking.

If you had paid me for this testimonial it wouldn't be half the boost.

Wishing you the same,
BERT GREEN

On the right is a strip of his cartoon 'Kids'. The cartoon is a 3x3 grid of panels. The top right panel has the title 'KIDS' and the signature 'BERT GREEN'. The panels contain the following scenes and dialogue:

- Top Left: A boy says, 'GOL - THERE'S A GREAT BURGLAR PICTURE COMING AT THE PLAYHOUSE TO-NIGHT. LET'S GO DOWN. LET'S SEE IT!' A girl replies, 'YES, HIS - I GOTTA STUDY MY LESSONS!'.
- Middle Left: A boy says, 'BOY, IT SURE FEELS GOOD TO GET TO THE SLEEP!'.
- Middle Middle: A large panel with the word 'CRASH' and lightning bolts.
- Middle Right: A panel with the word 'HELP' and a speech bubble saying 'BURGLAR!'.
- Bottom Left: A boy says, 'THERE'S A BURGLAR! THE GO!!'.
- Bottom Middle: A boy says, 'COME OUT, YOU BIG FATHEAD!!'.
- Bottom Right: A boy says, 'WHERE?' and a girl says, '???'.

Bert Green is the author of the popular "Love Letters of an Interior Decorator," appearing in Liberty magazine and is the artist who draws the "Kids" cartoons for the Chicago Tribune syndicate.

Like a rubber sac pen — they won't quit on the job

The pace-makers of the new America in all walks of life are casting aside their old "model T" pens—their rubber ink-sac pens—and pocketing Parker's revolutionary Vacumatic—the only pen of its kind.

It holds 102% more ink than a rubber sac pen of equal size! And its ink supply is ever visible, hence shows you days ahead when it needs refilling. Thus it won't run out of ink in the midst of your writing—won't delay, irritate or embarrass you—won't force you to make excuses.

Invented by a scientist at the University of Wisconsin, this miracle writer was developed by Parker after pen inventors had vainly tried for nearly 50 years to produce it. Yes, 250 sacless pens were patented before it, but sac-type pens continued in higher favor because of the piston pumps, valves, and old-time devices that seemed to be required in sacless pens. But the Parker Vacumatic has none of these—nothing to render it useless later. It's guaranteed mechanically perfect—changes all previous notions of a fountain pen—actually transforms writing from a sluggish chore into a job you love.

Its barrel appears in a style entirely new—laminated—built up ring upon ring of shimmering Pearl and Jet, or Pearl and Transparent Amber that looks like Pearl and Jet when filled with ink; yet when held to the light, it shows the ink within—shows when to refill. An ultra-smart Beauty,—design patented, hence wholly exclusive.

With this new-deal writer as their head assistant, alert-brained people are now "going places"—gaining new highs in learning and earning. Don't fall behind the swift-moving times. Stop today at any store selling pens, and see and try this latest wonder of science. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wis.

To get the best results from your new Vacumatic Filler—or from any pen—use Parker Quink—the new, quick-drying, non-clogging writing ink, with a secret solvent that cleans a pen as it writes. At all dealers. If you want to try before you buy Quink, send two 3-cent stamps for 40,000-word demonstrator bottle.

Parker VACUMATIC

The laminated VACUMATIC has a reversible point, which writes in the regular way on the lower side and hair-line on the upper side. The transparent VACUMATIC eliminates the objection of having a pen run out of ink in the midst of writing—because its transparent rings tell you when to refill. The ultra-smart style of this revolutionary Parker VACUMATIC is unlike that of any other pen. Both the VACUMATIC filling mechanism and the laminated design are protected by Parker patents.

The new transparent VACUMATICs in COLORS at $5.00 are an absolute sensation with many people who can not pay $7.50 for the Parker VACUMATIC. These remarkable new pens are doubling the market;—but, believe it or not, the laminated model at $7.50 is the best seller.

Parker Desk Sets

Parker Desk Sets combine both beauty and utility. They are made from a large variety of materials—Italian marble, Pedrara onyx, green Brazil onyx, and black Vitrolite—and are obtainable in a wide assortment of sizes and prices. The Parker patented ball and socket action permits the pens to lie flat, remain upright, or tilt in any direction. The air-tight socket-bowl keeps the pen point moist and ready to write the instant the point touches the paper. The list prices shown are for base and taper only, without pen.

"ITS VISIBLE COLUMN OF INK-

Like the Gas Gauge on Your Car—

Lets You Choose Your Own Time to Refill—Ends Running Dry!"

says Ripley

Not only does Parker's revolutionary Vacumatic hold 102% more ink than a rubber ink sac pen of equal size, but it also shows you days in advance when your ink supply is running low.

Hence it doesn't suddenly go dry in the midst of your writing like a sac-type pen — you don't have to rush around without warning, hunting up a bottle of ink. You can choose your own time to refill it—when and where ink is handy—with the kind of ink you prefer.

Literally thousands of college students, instead of carrying bottles of ink and old-type fountain pens to tests and exams, as formerly, now carry only the Parker Vacumatic Pen. They fill it and forget it, knowing that this new marvel will write a book

Wholly New Beauty — Alluring Style

A famed designer created this laminated Beauty — ring upon ring of Pearl and Jet, or Pearl and Transparent Permanite that has all the velvety shimmer of opaque laminations when filled with ink, yet reveals the ink within when held to the light. A style so utterly original that design patents were granted — hence it's wholly exclusive.

Now that the world can have the sacless pen it has always wanted, rubber sac pens and piston-pump types are being laid aside as rapidly as silent pictures went out when talking pictures came in.

You can't imagine the convenience of having this unique All-Purpose point that writes your regular hand on the lower side; and, if you want to

"And what a point!" exclaim those who try it. Precious Platinum and Gold, tipped with a polished pellet of rare Iridium, perfectly formed on both sides, smooth as a watch-bearing, and slightly turned up so it cannot possibly scratch or drag — even beneath the pressure of big-fisted writers.

Give your hand the pleasant adventure of trying this at any nearby pen counter. All stores that sell pens are demonstrating this new wonder of science daily. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.

New Ink Creation Makes a Pen a Self-cleaner

Parker Quink — a marvelous new writing ink — contains a harmless solvent that makes a fountain pen clean itself as it writes. For Quink dissolves sediment and gum left by ordinary inks. Hence your pen starts quickly — every time. You never have to shake it to start the flow. Ask your dealer for this new pen-cleaning ink. Or send two 3-cent stamps for 40,000-word bottle to try. Quink dries so quickly on paper, you don't have to stop and blot. Try it. Remember the name, Parker Quink — quick-starting, quick-drying, pen-cleaning.

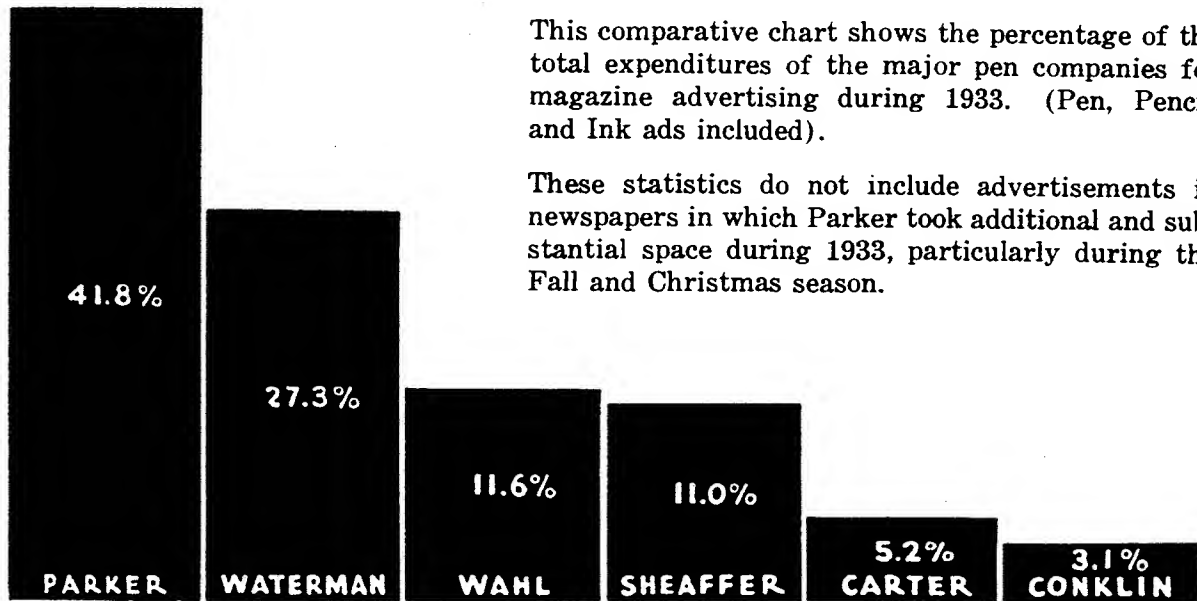

RIPLEY AGAIN ENLISTED BY PARKER

to feature in extensive VACUMATIC advertising campaign

Robert L. Ripley, of "Believe It Or Not" fame, in his search for the "different" discovered the miracle pen — the Parker VACUMATIC. When Ripley's endorsement of the Parker VACUMATIC was published last year, millions were convinced by his forceful style of picturization. Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" feature is followed daily by over ELEVEN MILLION newspaper readers.

AGAIN IN 1933

Parker Led the Fountain Pen field in National Advertising Volume

The above figures, covering 1933 magazine advertisements of fountain pens, pencils, and ink were compiled by the Advertising Record Company, Inc., New York, publishers of National Advertising Records.

Parker Among 150 Leading Advertisers

According to the Advertising Record Company, Incorporated, Parker was the ONLY fountain pen manufacturer listed in 1933 among the 150 leading National Advertisers of the year.

Parker's major advertising program last fall was largely in rotogravure space in NEWSPAPERS. Despite this fact, Parker was still among the 150 leading MAGAZINE advertisers, conclusive proof of Parker's leadership in advertising as compared with that of other pen manufacturers.

GOODS WELL SHOWN..

Parker displays are the "stop signs" which remind passersby of their intention to buy the VACUMATIC pen,—the miracle pen which they saw advertised in the newspapers and magazines.

Mr. C. C. Davis of Huber's, one of the finest pen shops in Cincinnati, Ohio, reports excellent sales with the new Vacumatic. "The results obtained by your national advertising, by us, covering your VACUMATIC fountain pen have been gratifying. We sincerely hope you will continue with same, and will promise you our fullest cooperation, as what we need today is a fine piece of merchandise, backed by national advertising, such as you have."

. . ARE HALF SOLD!

Window displays will always attract attention PROVIDED they are "newsy," novel, and interesting. That is why Parker VACUMATIC Windows are producing results for thousands of stores like those shown below. The Parker VACUMATIC is News—Revolutionary and Sensational—and GOOD News to all who write.

Newman Drug Company of Louisville, Kentucky—one of the oldest as well as most reputable drug stores, writes:

"Within forty-five minutes after the Vacumatic display was installed, I sold $26.00 in Parker merchandise. I sold more Parker merchandise in the past five days than I ever had in a like period."

Mr. E. W. Skidmore, shown above, of the D M. Read Company, a leading department store in Bridgeport, Connecticut, finds the Animated Vacumatic Display an aid in building up sales. He reports a very substantial increase in Parker Pen sales, since its installation.

This attractive display appeared in the window of The Kay Jewelry of Oakland, California, with fine sales results:

The animated display gave a full and comprehensive story to the window shoppers.

Gustave Fischer Company, prominent stationers of Hartford, Connecticut, wire: "Sales so unusual from this window we decided to carry and feature complete line."
